About the Creative Daily

Welcome note

Hello there, warm welcome to Creative Daily. In this booklet you will receive a daily dose of fun and exciting creativity training and exercises carefully curated to help you exercise the creative muscle to start generating ideas that make money. I wish you a fun adventure as you realize a creative edge through the booklet. The Creative Daily is currently distributed to more than 100+ creatives in Dubai! Congratulations, you are now a part of a different community changing the world.

Our History

One day Stupid Orange founder got tired of drinking water so he went to the kitchen, mixed Boco pandan essence with sugar and ice only to get a very delicious drink he liked. This gave him confidence to sell a few cups of the drink for money to go for interviews. Those who drank liked the drink too. Today he is helping people to start making money with creativity !

Mission and Vision

Vision : A world where creativity leads.

Mission : To help people start making money with creativity

Stupid Orange Creative Daily Timeline

Launched Stupid Orange Creative Daily
- June 2026

Dear All

I would like to assure you the money I made after making and selling buco pandam juice was real money and the people who bought the juice were very amazed by the juice. As the saying 'sharing is caring' implies, I have made it my mission to bring the power of creativity to the world.

How to use the Creative Daily:

1. 5 minutes only. If it takes longer, you're overthinking.
2. SHIP IT. No screenshot of action = rep didn't happen.
3. Comment DONE. Reply DONE in the group to unlock tomorrow's page. We train together.
4. Each One Teach One. When you make $20, help one person start Day #1.

This is free because I wish someone had handed me this when I was selling juice. Don't hoard it. Forward it to the friend who's still angry at water. Your pandan juice moment is today. Do the rep. Post the proof. Change your story.

Stop Chasing Perfection: The Dubai Billionaire's Secret to Creative Success

Saying

"The race for excellence has no finish line." – Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum

The race for creative excellence still continues. As creatives we need to recognise that there are people who have traveled further than us in their creative journey and they have neither reached the finish line or beat those who have not started. Sheik Mohammed bin Rashed Al Maktoum created a city in the middle of a desert that is one of the most iconic in the world to date in less than 50 years. If you have been to Dubai you can see first hand that the City is still developing regardless.

As creatives we should look at the pursuit of excellence as an on going activity. It is about continuously showing up and not letting failure get in the way of your pursuit. Every time you fall you have to rise up and get better as a creative working on your mistakes. Nelson Mandela intentionally wrote a broken phrase to sell the idea that you can fall but the glory is in rising again after you fall.

Assignment: Research the top 5 fortune 500 companies that have failed in launching most products but learnt from those failed launches and gained massive success. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product that you are developing successfully launches and achieves commercial success utilizing failed attempts as lessons. Take screenshots, comment done and Good Luck!

Affirmation: I am a brilliant creative. Even as I reach for excellence every day I am never satisfied. I am constantly pursuing excellence as an ongoing activity. I learn from failure and take criticism of feedback only to use so I can be better next time. I begin today!

How One Creative Tool Can Unlock Your First Royalty Check (The Malala Method)

Saying "One child, one teacher, one book, and one pen, can change the world." – Malala Yousafzai

There is a way to change the world for the creative. Malala, a Pakistani Education Activist who survived an assassination attempt by the Taliban advocated for the education of women in his country. He discovered something , education can change the world! As creatives we have the potential to change the world through our art we can help shape the future of a better world.

Most of the time the creative is faced with the situation where their art is not impactfull it is not a resorn to worry at all because yes, the present might not be yours but the future is definitely yours. All you have to do is work for it and you will definately own it. When you are getting a cold reaction from the market do not dismay as a creative but be in alignment for the future because unlike the present, the future is up for grabs.

Assignment: Identify the 5 Fortune 500 Companies that have benefited from Education as a tool for revenue and marketing strategy taking note of 3 important take aways. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are developing benefits from education as a tool to improve its market standing.

Affirmation: I have the potential to change the world. I am going to work towards owning my fair share of the future through my art. I know the key to changing the future is education. I will begin today.

Build Your Creative Empire: The African Leader's Lesson for Dubai Creatives

Saying

"If you cannot build a hut, do not destroy the one." –
Kwame Nkrumah

If you cannot build something do not destroy it. When Kwame Nkrumah was faced with political opposition he did not under estimate the abilities of his opponent. He questioned whether they could built something that is better than what he had built as the first black President of Ghana. That was a very rational questions isnt it?

As creatives we are constantly trying to disrupt markets by making something better than what is currently available. Whatever decision you make it is a good decision. Making sure that whatever you build you make sure you make it right is the difference between good and great creatives. It does not matter someone you were counting on is not supporting you or gives a bad review, make sure you make the decision right.

Assignment: Research any 5 Fortune 500 Companies that shipped a product that phased out other products in the market and find any 3 key take aways from the decision. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are developing phases out current products from fortune 500 companies successfully. Take screenshots and comment done.

Affirmation: I am a rational creative. Never will I under estimate the opponents I have iin the market. I will constantly try to disrupt the market. I will make that decision right beginning today.

Saying

"The job of leadership is to unify. The next thing is to protect unity in organization." – Jesse Jackson

The job of the creative is to unify society and that job also requires them to protect that unity. Through art society can be united, and through that unity can be protected by the creative. Art can be a tool of leadership in the hands of a good steward. The question is are you going to use art for good leadership?

Creatives who find joy in the process of creativity itself go further than those who seek reward and recognition for their work. Creative Business 101: How Honesty Builds Long-Term Royalty

Saying

"The life of a nation is secure only while the nation is honest, truthful, and virtuous." – Frederick Douglass

As a once enslaved person who later became an activist in abolition of slave trade Fredrick Douglass stressed the importance of virtues for a nation which include honesty, truthfulness and virtuousness. He says they are important for the life of a nation and without them its life is not secure. This is the power of communication. Changing communication can change the security of a nation.

Creatives can change their outlook by changing their communication. A careful audit of the ideas we are bringing out is very important because the market is not ignorant of messaging. We might look at other people and judge what they have to say but what do we have to say ourselves is a more important question which can secure our long term outlook.

Assignment: Research the 5 Fortune 500 CEOs who have utilized communication as a tool to secure their business and state any 3 key takeaways. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are developing is well communicated to secure a market entry. Take screenshots and comment done. Good luck.

How to Build a Creative Business That Outlasts You (Dubai Leadership Style)

Saying

"A great leader creates more great leaders and does not reduce the institution to a single person." – Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum

A great creative is someone who allows other creatives to be great and does not narrow down the institution to one creative. When building a creative business, prioritizing inclusion of other creatives allows your business to help other creatives grow and this benefits both parties.

Whether you start a business that helps other creatives be great or that is not inclusive, what you are going to do is going to make a difference. It is up to you to choose the difference you are going to make whether it will be great or small. It is a pity to choose to make a small difference but rather exciting to choose to make a great difference.

Your Ideas Are Your Real Wealth: How to Collect Royalties Like an Indian Revolutionary

Saying

"It is easy to kill individuals, but you cannot kill the ideas."
– Bhagat Singh

The creative has the task to bring out ideas that can shape the market as a whole. When an idea is shipped by the creative, it is an object that is out there even if the creative does not make any profit from the marketing. Those ideas are the real wealth of the creative and in the long term they are they sum total of what the creative will be given credit for.

The real value of ideas is something that is debatable. Ideas are objects and they can be evaluated. Some ideas are the wealth of the creatives who brought them out and some ideas are the poverty of the creatives who brought them out. The real fact is that the ideas have value to the creative who brought them out and to the market.

Rebuild Your Creative Life: The Venezuelan Leader's Lesson for Dubai Artists

Saying

"A country is rebuilt with citizens. Citizens are formed in classrooms." – María Corina Machado

A Great Creative is created by the market and the market are the people who decide what is great. The people cannot make a decision to make you great when they do not know you are working on. Failure to attain creative greatness is usually failure to let the people who are the market know what you are working on.

What then can we do to be Great Creatives when it is not in our hands but in the hands of the market? We can begin by making the people happy and see whether that happiness will trickle back to us. Solving problems for other people will obviously make them happy. Yes achieving greatness is not in our hands but we can start by instilling happiness in the hearts of others.

Assignment: Research 5 Fortune 500 Companies who made it by winning the hearts of people through marketing better than competition and any 3 key take aways from the arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are shipping is properly marketed to ensure a good launch.

Stop Waiting for Permission: How to Collect Royalties Without a Gatekeeper

Saying

"Society in every state is a blessing, but government even in its best state is but a necessary evil." – Thomas Paine

A lot of times many creatives require some sort of permission before going for greatness. The fact is that you don't need any permission from anybody to be great. Those blocks you have from greatness are signs that it is worth it to be great rather than reasons to not attain greatness. Nobody has a good reason to not be great but rather good excuses.

Working towards greatness and giving excuses are both not easy its just that those who work towards greatness get a good reward and those who give excuses do not. Overall these are two processes that give different results. If noone is giving people permission to go for greatness I wonder who is giving the permission to not go for greatness.

Assignment: Research the 5 Fortune 500 CEOs who were not supposed to be on the list and note any 3 factors that led them to be the one in the driving seat of a global conglomerate. How to Know You're on the Right Creative Track (Even When No One Believes You)

Saying

"If you know you are on the right track, if you have this inner knowledge, then nobody can stop you." – Barbara McClintock

When a creative has has a vision they are usually faced with the harsh reality that nobody believes their vision. They might see it with their own eyes but not believe it. Barbara McClintock discovered a breakthrough in genetic transportation and submitted her research but she was ignored and told that her facts were not relevant to current trends in science. She did not give up but furthered her exploration until she began gaining attention through her progress, that is when she was recognized and even wont a Nobel piece prize.

Most creatives seek recognition from someone out there who will pick them up and rewrite their story but that is very likely not going to happen. If anyone is going to rewrite your story I promise it will not be in your best interest. Great creatives are those few that trust in that voice within them and rewrite their story for themselves.

Assignment: Research 5 Ceos in Fortune 500 companies that rewrote the history of their company and industry by believing in their vision and changing the trajectory of the company despite the fact that they did not get any recognition for their efforts. "The problem of the twentieth century is the problem of the color-line." – W.E.B. Du Bois

A Century is 100 years and when dealing with the problem of color history shows that it has been there for more than 100 years meaning it will not be over soon. Since color is a problem in our century are we resigning to solving easier problems with a solution closer to achievement. The first African American to earn a Doctorate from Harvard University, W.E.B Du Bois who founded an organization that fought for many rights of thoes of color pioneered these efforts but noted the problem is still there.

The Creativity Tipping Point: Why Most Creatives Waste 50% of Their Income Potential

Saying

"A man who dares to waste one hour of time has not discovered the value of life." – Charles Darwin

The value of life according to Charles Darwin is something that is not known by every man. There is a way to discover whether a man has discovered the value of life or not. When a man can dare to waste one hour of time, that man has not discovered the value of life. Let us also take into account the fact that this is coming from the man whom in his dying moments said his life's work was a lie! I believe he lied on his death bed because the evidence he provided has been critiqued but passed the tests.

What is the value of the life of a creative? I do not know but I have resorn to believe that the value of the head of a creative is more than the value of this planet and that value can be unlocked while the creative is still alive. It is the task of the creative themself to unlock their value in the market. Creatives operate in a free market that allows them to realize this potential with security.

"Every human society has the natural right to revolt against injustice; revolution is not a crime but a fundamental human claim to dignity and change." – Bhagat Singh

There are laws that govern the way justice is served which are written in the books of law of every country. All these nations have laws that are lenear to the 10 commandments given to the Isrielites by Prophet Moses. Creatives have to know these laws in order to be able to have a good judgement when they produce their art. Imagine publishing work that is regarded as against the laws of God.

Saying

"To be an African has meant that for generations, we are not worthy of the laws and rights that make us human beings, and for that reason, it was legal to abuse us, to enslave." – Julius Malema

There is no right to be creative. There are more laws created to stop and control than there were made specifically to promote creativity. This is not a geographical phenomena but it is happening all around the world. That is why it is so easy for the average person to shy away from creativity at the first place. Being a creative is like against the natural flow of things but it is not so. Maybe you just need an hour to read the laws for yourself so they won't seem like a roadblock to creativity but rather governance.

"We won't keep our peoples safe, our planet protected or our prosperity preserved unless we work together, listen to each other and act in concert." – António Guterres

When a creative aspires to make an positive impact on the society, they might want to inspire people or educate people, there is a way to go about it. It begins with working together with other creatives to achieve the goal. The impact that is supposed to take you 1 week alone to make, can take 1 hour for 20 creatives to effect, isnt that powerful. This has been tried and tested through concerts like Cochella where random artists who are not booked that weekend show up to perform. Once You Learn to Earn Royalties, No One Can Stop You

"You cannot un-educate the person who has learned to read. You cannot humiliate the person who feels pride." – César Chávez

There is one thing that makes some creatives better than other creatives. They have same education than those who follow behind them. In the environment where there similar creatives with the same education a few creatives manage to stand out by communicating better than the other creatives. The same skills communicated better bring better results in any situation. Communication is a very important skill indeed.

When you begin learning to communicate, you notice that there is only a finite chances to communicate but infinite issues to address. Given these parameters it is important to put a premium on the words that you let out of your mouth. When you begin doing this you notice that those around you have not mastered communication through the carelessness of words they have. "No place in the world has grown so rapidly as Shenzhen, and what is even more astonishing is that it continues to progress at high speed." – Kishore Mahbubani

The leadership of a community is responsible for its growth. When a community is suffering it is at large the leadership that is responsible for the suffering. As we look at Singapore we attribute its economic development to the leadership which managed to compete at a global stage.

Real growth as a creative is not about creating a bubble in which you ask people to endorse you without tangible improvement. As creatives when we achieve real growth the results will show for themselves. Money is only an exchange of the value you have created. It is not a real indicator of the growth itself, but it is a good indicator of growth.

Assignment: Research 5 Fortune 500 companies that managed to make real tangible growth because of the leadership and note any 3 key take aways from the arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that the product you are developing has tangible growth due to good leadership.

Affirmation : I am a great creative. My community grows because of my leadership. I am a champion at the Global stage who showcases real tangible growth. I begin today.

Education = Income: The Mandela Formula for Creative Royalties

Saying

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world." – Nelson Mandela

As a creative it is possible to change the world. There are many ways to go about this however education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world. In the world we live in you need to know something in order to make an impact. However if you do not have the knowledge you can hire someone who knows the work to do it for you. Either way with education you have the power to change the world.

When a creative realises the importance of education, they want to learn everything. I always emphasize that knowing too much about something is very dangerous. In fact the more you know about something the less you know. Even in academia the more you go up with education the more narrow your education becomes. As creatives we don't go into specialization because we don't usually do the same type of project twice.

Assignment: Research any 5 Fortune 500 CEOs who changed the predicament of their company through education and note any 3 key takeaways. Develop a strategy to ensure that the product you are developing is going to profit through education as a tool. Take screenshots and comment done. Good luck.

Affirmation: I am going to change into a great artist because I chose to pivot that direction. Change is going to happen anyway and I am going to direct the change in my life towards greatness beginning today.

The Royal Lifestyle Secret: Why Needing Less Gives You More Creative Freedom

Saying "Happiness is not about having more, but about needing less." – José Mujica

The happiest day of your life as a creative should be different from that of a non creative, especially when you are pursuing greatness. The first thing every great creative has is a clear picture of what their finished work will look like and having that shouldn't be the happiest day of your life but the day that most progress towards the vision was made. All other days when you had nice moments that did not directly contribute to your vision will not qualify to be your happiest because the joy you pursue is promised after attainment of greatness.

When your happiness as a creative is tied to your vision you end up needing less. You know exactly what a great day for you looks like and what a bad one would look like. You will end up needing less and less of what is not in your ideal good day picture.

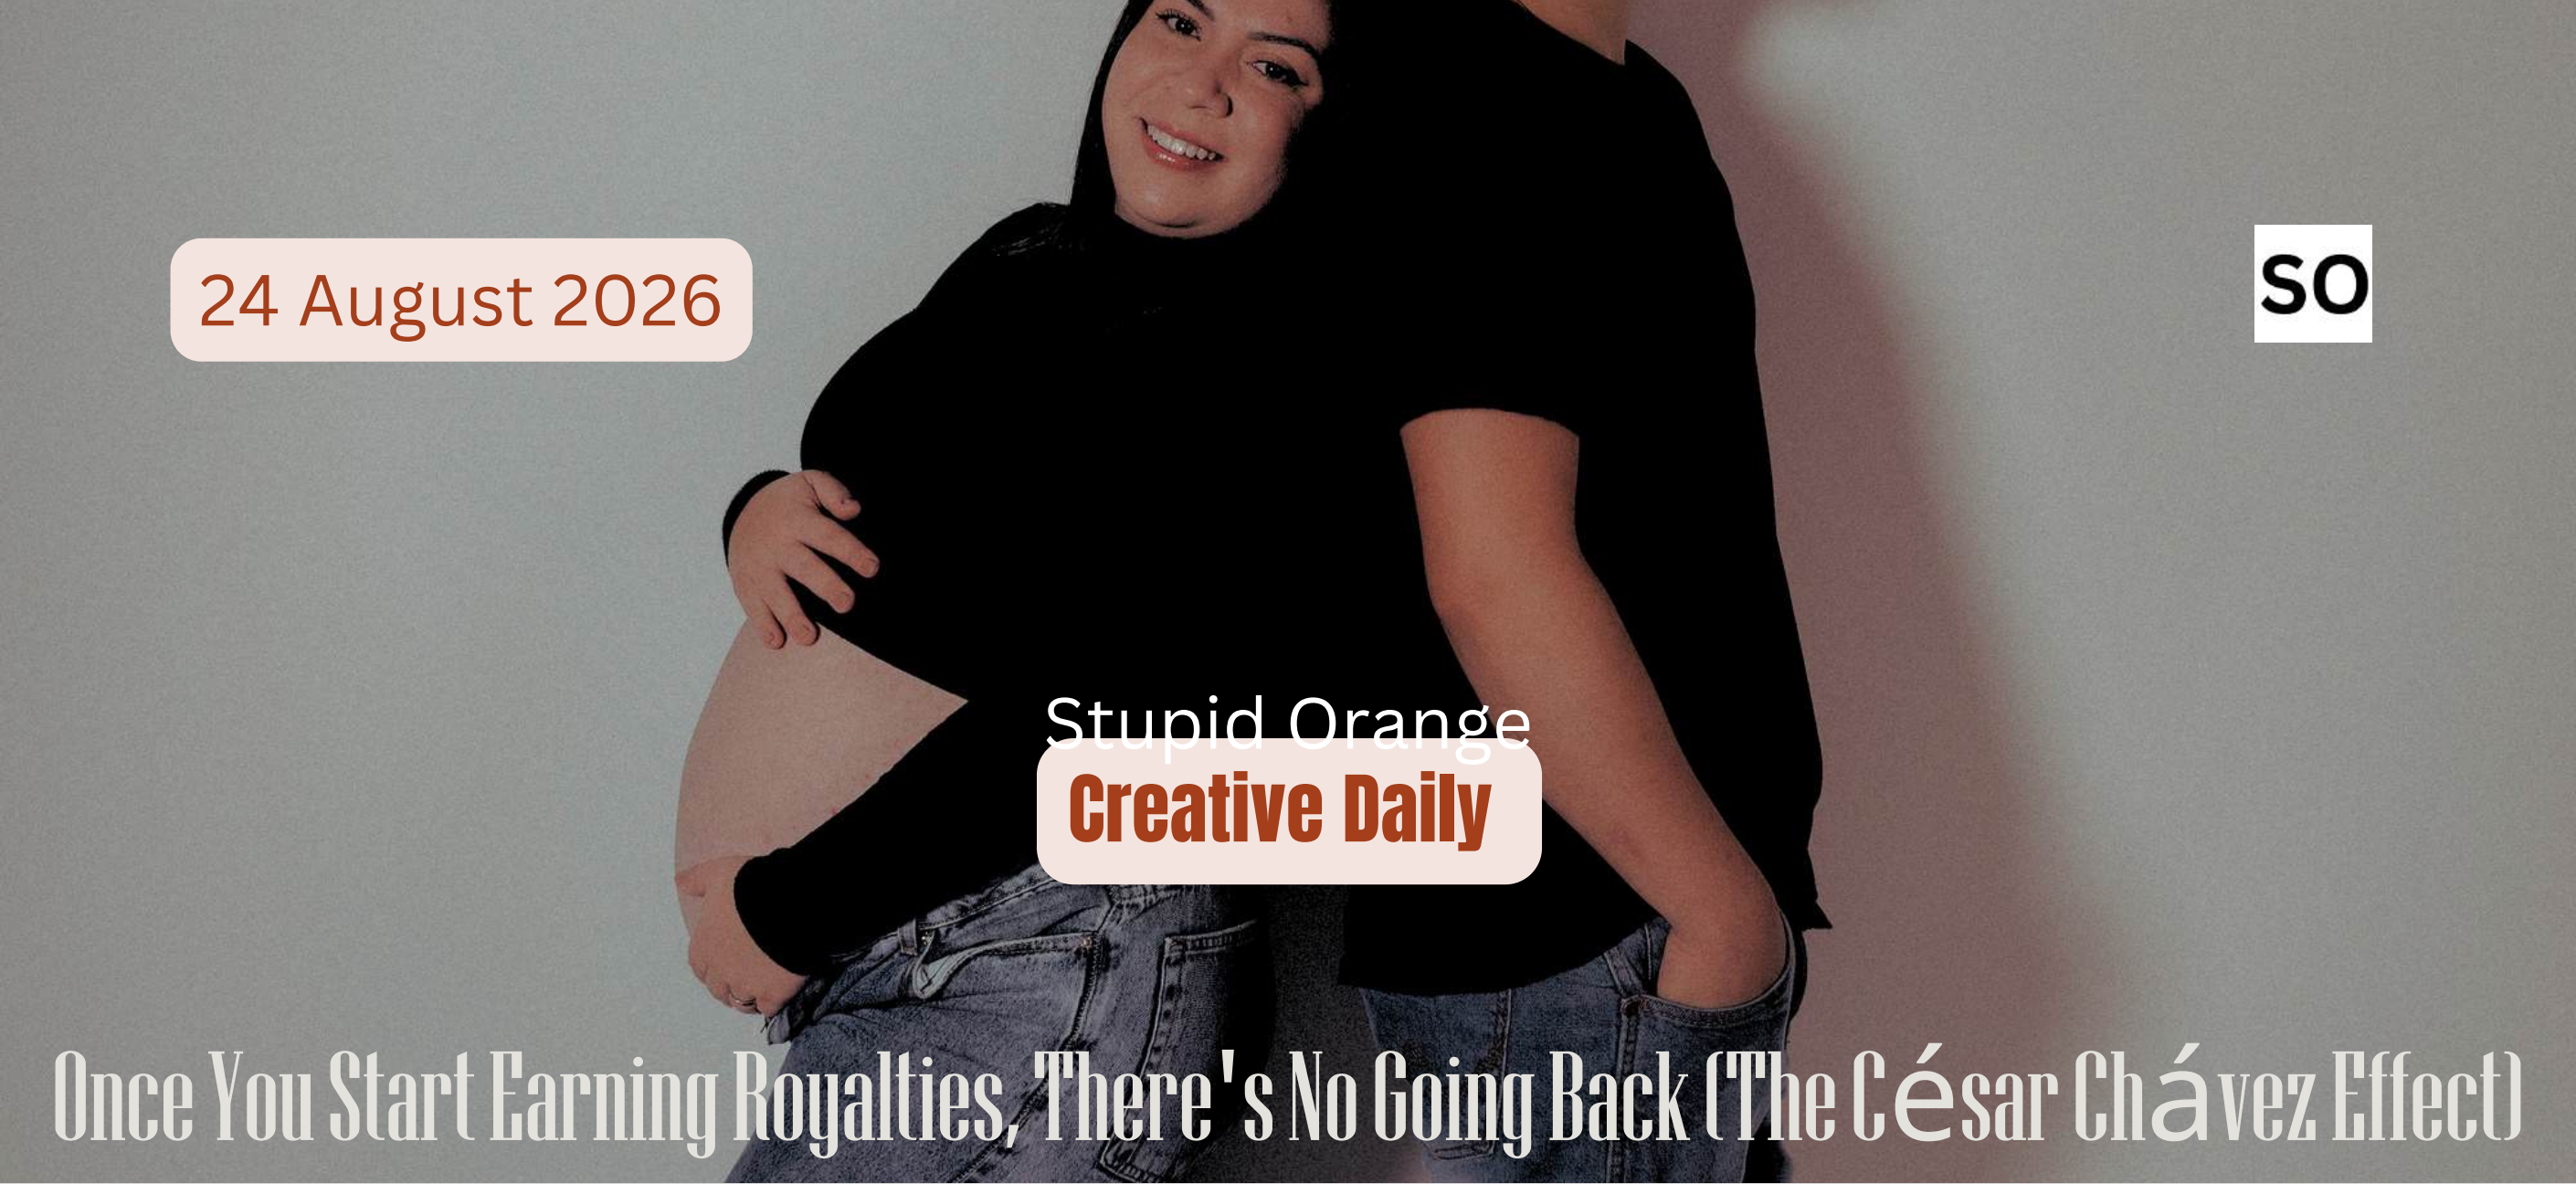

Assignment: Research any 5 Fortune 500 CEOs who managed to change the way people in their company did work and improved the outlook of the company. Note any 3 key takeaways. Develop a strategy to ensure that a project you are working on is properly executed by doing work innovatively. Take screenshots and comment done. Good luck.

Affirmation: I am a great creative because I always have good days. I have a clear picture of what a good day looks like and I only have such days. My happiness is tied to my vision. I begin today.

Once You Start Earning Royalties, There's No Going Back (The César Chávez Effect)

Saying "Once social change begins, it cannot be reversed." – César Chávez

As creatives our greatest asset is superiority in communication skills. When we ship any product the success or failure is the quality of communication that was delivered to the market. The message being communicated is very important because the society is affected by every change we can make to the market.

Not every message communicated by creatives actually effects social change. There are many creatives who have tried to make good social changes but the message failed to stick. There are some who send terrible messages and they cause trouble in society. As individual creative we learn from the experience and hope that we can make a good impact.

Assignment: Research any 5 Fortune 500 CEOs that have solved global problems through their products or services and 3 key points to note in the way they identified the problem, solved it, and further issues to be addressed. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are developing solves a global problem effectively.

Stop Inventing Excuses: How Creatives Build Real Income (The Mujica Way)

Saying

"We don't invent reality." – José Mujica

Creatives all over the world have a big misconception about invention. They believe that they invent reality, how proud they sound when they say these statements. Nobody no matter how big they think they are can create or invent reality. Reality is what it is.

Whenever you believe you can invent reality you might drift to being an inventor of useless inventions that are out of touch with reality itself. As creatives in the classroom of greatness we have to know these facts so that our thinking may be different. Reality is what it is and whatever you are creating it has to embrace a reality that is what it is already.

Assignment: Identity 5 Fortune 500 CEOs that have managed to market products that are practical to the everyday life of a lot of people and note any 3 key takeaways from the arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that the product you are developing is practical and not void of usefulness in the everyday lives of people. Take screenshots and comment done. Good luck.

Affirmation: I am a great creative who creates that which is practical in the everyday life of the people. I embrace reality as it is and I begin today.

From Talking to Earning: The Dubai Secret to Creative Royalties

Saying "People talk about it, but we act." – Dr Ali Al Nuaimi

The creatives who talk about the impact they want to make have begun the first step in their creative journey. It is not to be understated when we go to our family and let them know that we have decided to persue greatness. It is a step to be celebrated, however moving from talking about it to actually doing it is even a bigger step for a creative.

The main reoson why many creatives fail to act effectively is because they have not put in place structures that ensure they create effectively. There is a need for rules and frameworks that creates an environment that allows it to be friction free to create. Without rules the creative will find it hard to make any progress since there will be no clear structure of how things should go.

Assignment: Research 5 Fortune 500 companies that have improved their output because of effective rules and note any 3 key take aways from the whole arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are working on benefit from effective rules and structure put in place to create an environment where it can thrive.

Affirmation: I am a great creative because I have set rules that allows it to be easy for me to be creative. I do not just talk about the impact I want to make but I have created an environment where I work torwads achieving my goals without impact.

Feeling Overwhelmed? How to Start Collecting Royalties Anyway (The Alhanislam Way)

Saying

"No country by itself will solve the problem. We need international cooperation, so we need agreements." – Michelle Bachelet

The creatives, are leaders of social change and cultural preservation. There is need for a cooperation between creatives at a certain point to extend the impact that every effort exerts. Without cooperation there would be no agreement to act uniformly. This would mean that social change and cultural preservation would fail. Is that a society we would like to live in?

One thing that creatives have in common is that they have a difficult task of shipping to a cold market. When Google shipped their first google ray glasses they were expecting a massive market adoption of the new technology they had invested a lot of money into. The problem was that the people had privacy concerns and they did not appreciate the asking price of the glasses. They did not stop but tried to understand the market more and ship again.

Assignment: Research the 5 Fortune 500 CEOs who shipped something different to the market and made succesful partnerships to help get commercial success for the product. Develop a strategy to ensure that the product you are developing gets commercial success through partnerships.

The Magic of Starting Before You're Ready: How to Earn Your First Royalty Check

Saying

"There is magic and beauty to starting before you feel ready."
– Caitlin Figueiredo

When you do something, or see something that you cannot do again easily, we say the moment was magical. That is the effect that happens when you begin doing before you are prepared to actually begin. The time will be full of moments that you as a creative will marvel about. Isn't that amazing.

It is important to note that being ready is just a feeling that comes when you have fulfilled a certain anticipated need. Most creative might say they are not ready to create something amazing when they have everything that they actually need to get going already. You do not need anything other than a good source of inspiration in order to create something beautiful.

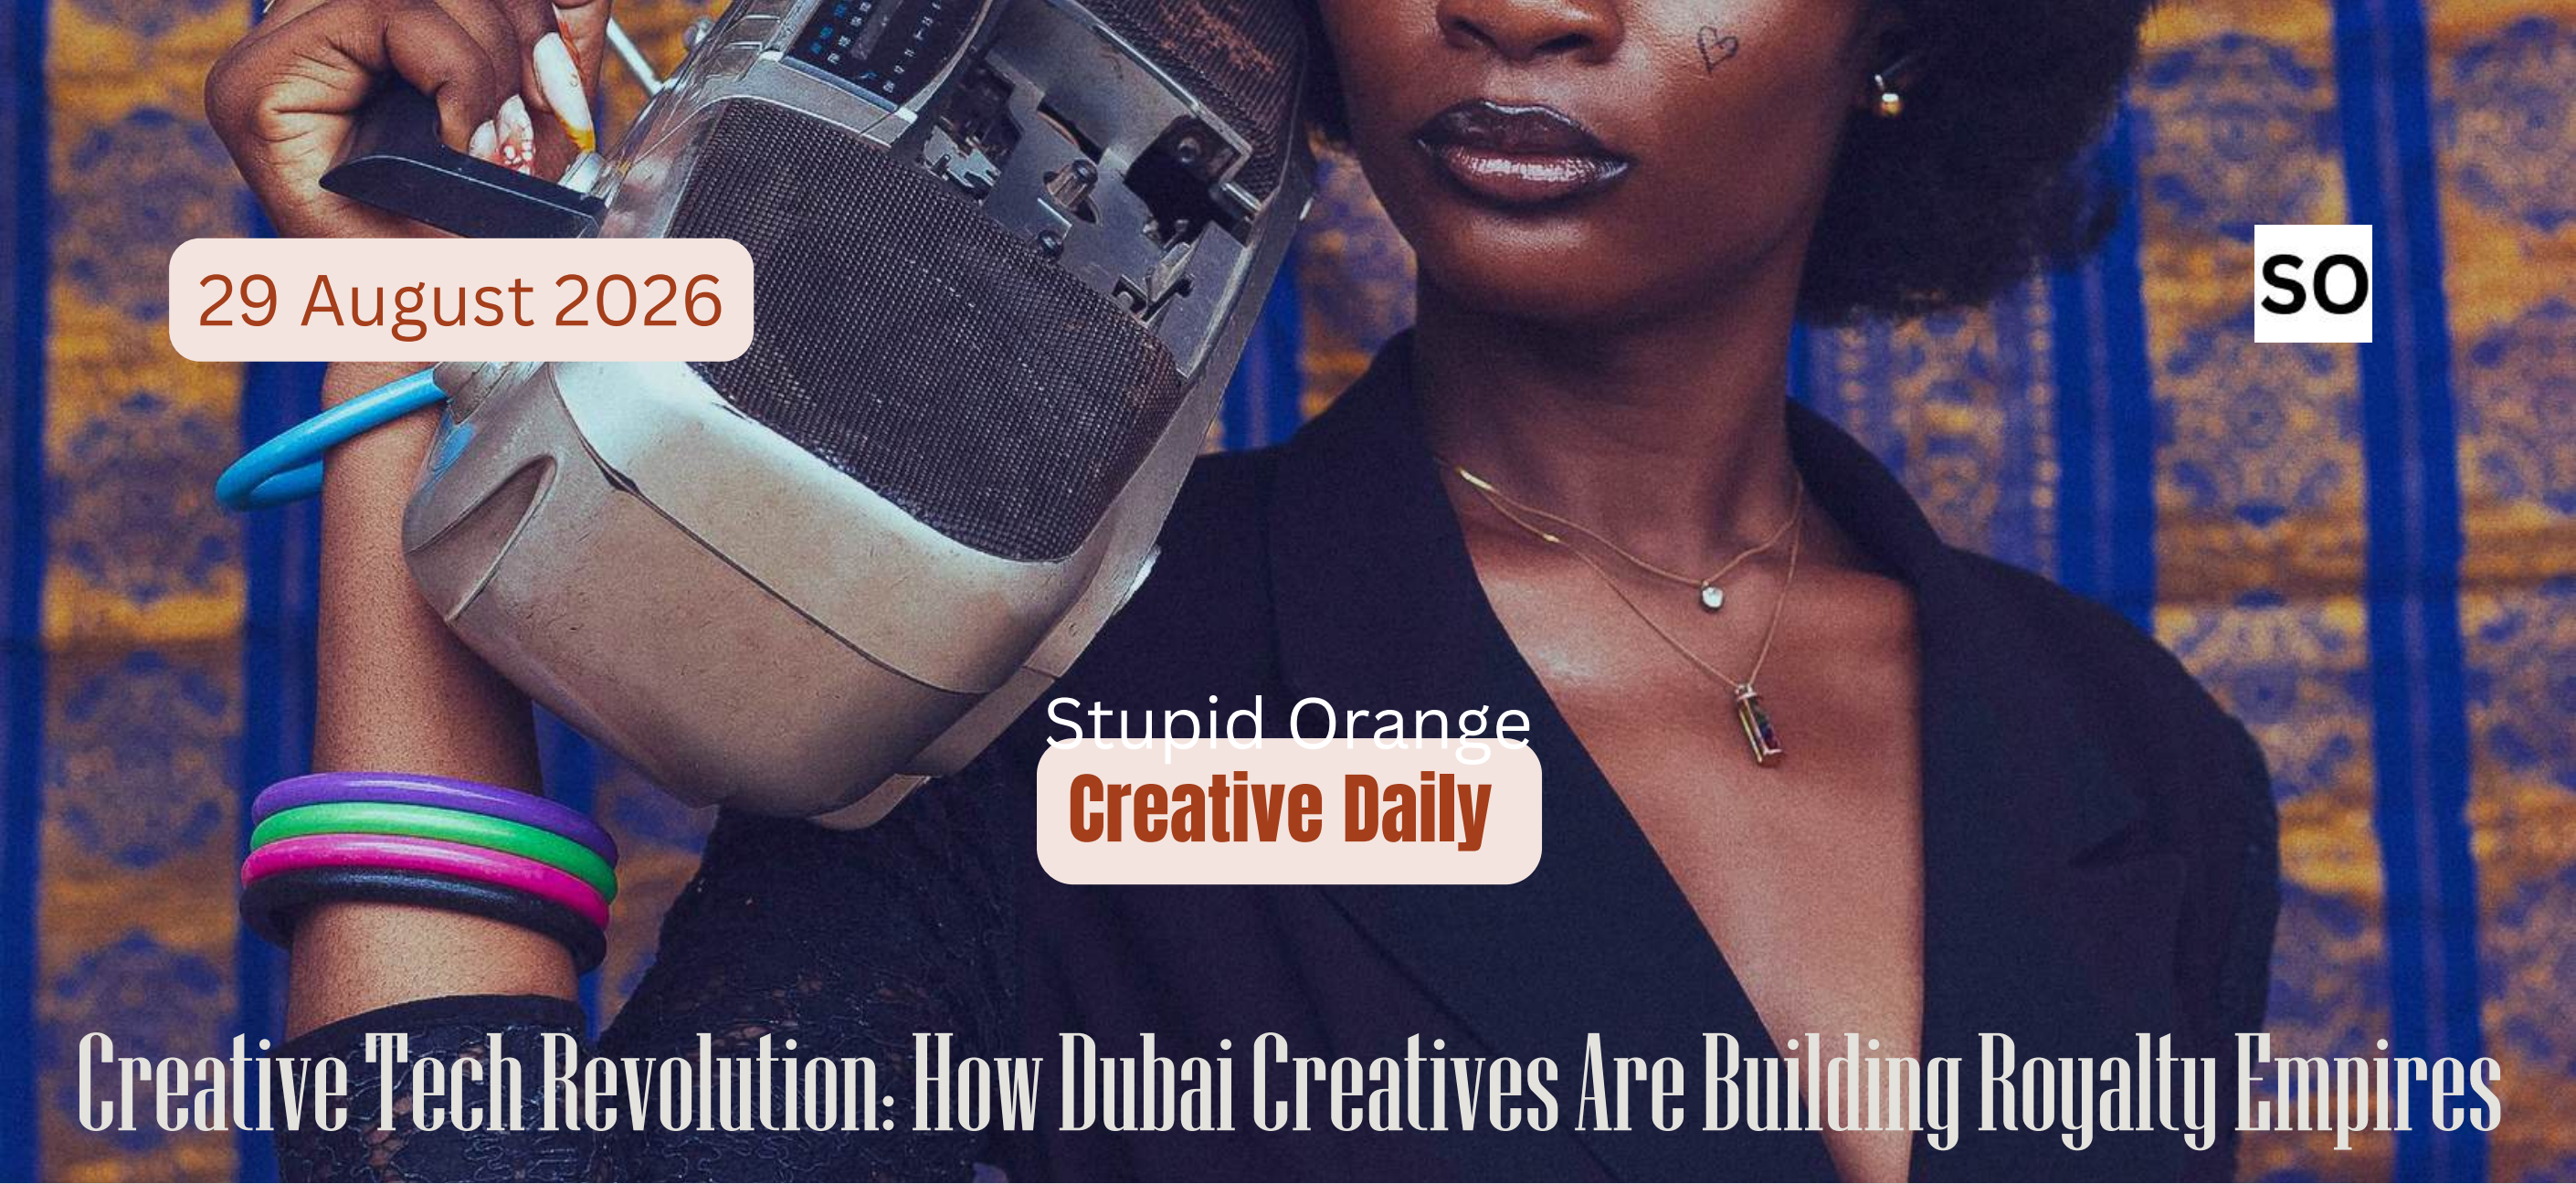

Assignment: Research 5 top Fortune 500 CEOs that are known for beginning projects before they are ready and note any 3 important points to note from their commercial success. Develop a strategy to ensure that a project you are working on fully benefits from creativity through readily available resources rather than reliance on external resources.

Affirmation: I am a great creative because I am always ready to start creating. I know that the word ready is only speculative and I am always ready whether or not I feel that way. I begin today.

Creative Tech Revolution: How Dubai Creatives Are Building Royalty Empires

Saying

"The development of the nation is intimately linked with science and technology." – Vikram Sarabhai

The development of the creative is linked to the systems they put in place. When a creative falls, they fall to the level of systems they have in place whereas when they rise, they rise to the level of systems they have in place. That is why most creatives never rise to the level they would wish to rise, the level of their systems permit for them to rise only to the level they reach.

What really are these systems we continue to talk about, they are the frameworks with which day to day, week to week, and month to month activities are done. When Mac Donald's started it was a Mom and Pop shop without any clear systems to implement and scale. When they systemized the already good Mom and Pop shop they managed to deliver the same good recipes to people world wide through effective systems.

Quiet Creatives Win: The Medha Patkar Secret to Royalty Success

Saying

"You don't need to be loud to be heard." – Medha Patkar

I have never seen a Tesla or Starbucks Billboard. They are not in the business of making noise in the market but they market themselves through utility. Tesla has its electric car charging booths at every gas station and Starbucks opens new coffee shops as a marketing strategy and treats its employees well so they market for them. Both companies are considered exceptional at marketing but they are not the loudest at all.

When you see a Tesla charging booth at a gas station, it was once an idea at Tesla that they could create that network of booths for their clients. The future of what the gas station looks like was determined by people in a board room. The people at the gas station themselves would see themselves parking at the electric vehicle charging booth isn't that a good marketing move.

Assignment: Research top 5 Fortune 500 CEOs that were recognised widely by the market for making moves that were not loud but intentional and take any 3 important take aways from the arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that a project you are working on gets widespread recognition through intentional moves that are not loud.

Affirmation: I am a great creative because I am not loud but make intentional moves that make my communication get heard. I am not going to be entering into the future but intentionally create it. I begin today.

Real Progress: How to Build Creative Wealth That Uplifts, Not Displaces

Saying "We don't oppose development. We oppose devastation."

– Medha Patkar

As we end the month of July we have an opportunity as creatives to actually make an audit of the things we have been doing in the last month. We have the chance to see if there was any development or devastation in our personal lives as well as society. If there is any development it is commendable whereas when there is any devastation it requires an equivalent, decree.

What kind of leadership will creatives be making if they do not stand for that which is right. When we are looking at the month we have been blessed with, we should see that the progress we made uplifted people. The lack of such an audit would not help improve impact in the following month.

Assignment: Research any 5 Fortune 500 Ceos that are known for leading positive change in society and note any 3 key takeaways from the arrangement. Develop a strategy to ensure that a product you are working on ushers leadership in positive social change. Take screenshots and comment done.

Affirmation: I am a great creative who leads in positive social change. I take every chance to audit how I have impacted society and my own life so I can improve later. I begin today.
